C. S. Lewis and the Integrated Life: Critic, Apologist, Mythmaker

The Kilns Study Centre Oxford, England

A gathering of Inklings

Built in 1922 and purchased by C.S. Lewis, Major Warren Lewis and Mrs. Janie King Moore in 1930, The Kilns is a modest twelve-room brick cottage. Now lovingly restored by the Foundation and many volunteers to reflect the home Lewis knew in the early 40's, the home also boasts many of the conveniences of modern living. Guests will take pleasure in discovering The Kilns' many rooms, including six bedrooms scattered throughout the house.

Program Highlights

For over sixteen years, the C.S. Lewis Foundation has successfully coordinated programs that offer rich intellectual stimulation while also providing unique opportunities for creative cultural pursuits. Continuing a tradition that hinges upon a lively and integrated approach to learning with an emphasis upon active scholarship, we are pleased to announce our fourth annual Summer Seminars-in-Residence at C. S. Lewis' beloved home, "The Kilns."

Under the leadership of Professors Don King and Bruce Edwards, we will offer a select group of 8 individuals, each week, unparalleled access to C.S. Lewis' home. Participants will enjoy insightful lectures by learned scholars, engaging conversations, fine dining and personalized tours of Lewis' favorite sites in the region. Participants will delight in the opportunity to meet several famed Lewis scholars and friends in the historic setting of The Kilns. You simply won't want to miss it.
