

Summer Seminars-in-Residence at "The Kilns" Oxford, England

Week I: July 8 – 14, 2006

Week II: July 16 – 22, 2006

Week III: July 29 – August 4, 2006

"Jack and I went out and saw the place on Sunday morning, and I instantly caught the infection: we did not go inside the house, but the eight acre garden is such stuff as dreams are made of."

Major Warren Lewis, from Brothers and Friends

A Comfortable Environment

Built in 1922 and purchased by C.S. Lewis, Major Warren Lewis and Mrs. Janie King Moore in 1930, The Kilns is a modest twelve-room brick cottage. Now lovingly restored by the Foundation and many volunteers to reflect the home Lewis knew in the early 40's, the home also boasts many of the conveniences of modern living. Guests will take pleasure in discovering The Kilns many rooms, including six bedrooms scattered throughout the house.

For over sixteen years, the C.S. Lewis Foundation has successfully coordinated programs that offer rich intellectual stimulation while also providing unique opportunities for creative cultural pursuits. Continuing a tradition that hinges upon a lively and integrated approach to learning with an emphasis upon active scholarship, we are pleased to announce our sixth Summer Seminars-in-Residence at C. S. Lewis' beloved home, "The Kilns."

For an unforgettable inside visit to the world of Lewis' Oxford and Cambridge, this most unusual program offers the definitive experience. You simply won't want to miss it.
